A Gift for All Time

THE true purpose of gift giving is commemoration—and commemoration calls for something permanent.

The Diamond is the gift ideal because it is the emblem of constancy and lasting affection.

A Birks Diamond is, among other Diamonds, supreme because it represents the pick of the world's markets, personally selected by our own experts from among the finest stones obtainable.

The Birks Diamond—the perfect stone is the gift for all Time.

LECTURE IN UNION THIS AFTERNOON

"Social Diseases" Is Subject of Talk

MOVING PICTURES

Prominent Medical Men to Address Students on Grave Evil

This afternoon at 5 p.m., a most important meeting will take place in the ballroom of the Union.

Social diseases are to be discussed by means of the moving picture and ten minute addresses are being given by Dr. John A. Hutchison, Dr. A. H. Desloges, Dr. F. S. Patch and Dr. H. M. Little.

Sir Arthur Currie, realizing, as perhaps no other man in our country realies the value of man power, will act as chairman, and it is sincerely hoped that the meeting will have the pleasure of listening the words of wisdom from him in addition to the other speakers.

During the war all the fighting nations learned the supreme value of man power. Idlers were put to work and every possible method was adopted which would help to bring each worker up to opnotch efficiency.

The years just ahead will make demands no less severe on the nation's manhood. Work at full capacity and top speed in factory mine, farm and railroad will be needed to reprenish the world's depleted store of material goods. Clear brains, keen intelligence and physical endurance will be required for the manifold scientific professional, constructive and humane tasks that face us. Each individual member of the coming generation of Canada's young men is the more valuable and responsible because so many of his older brothers the world over are missing.

Fitness-physical, mental and moral-depends fundamentally on health. This means not only the avoidance of diseases and defects, but positive ,abundant health-prime condition of mind and body. Every young man in Canada, to be worth of the heritage left him by the heroes on the battlefield, should know the laws of phsical and mental efficiency and live up to them. Keeping fit for Canada's task in the new world is the present obligation on every youth of the land.

A man's body is his life-time willing servant. Abuse it —it will be patient, but when it takes revenge it takes it a thousandfold. Give it a square deal and it will give you a square deal and more— it will give back pure blood and strong, skilled muscles and a clear brain for future happiness, the country's service and the past and to the future in a great chain of human beings.

A man by one false step may infect the racial stock, wreck the hopes of fa-

DEDICATION TO LT-COL. McRAE

New Song-Book Inscribed to Soldier-Singer

One of the features of the new McGill Song-Book, which is to be placed on sale next Monday, is its dedication-page.

The Song-Book Committee could think of no more fitting person to whom this compilation of the songs of Old McGill might be dedicated than the immortal soldier-singer of McGill-at-War, the late Lieutenant-Colonel John McRae, who succumbed to pneumonia while on active service on the 28th of January, 1918. Lt-Col McRae went overseas with the McGill Hospital Unit, leaving his position of assistant-professor of Pathology and the promise of a most brillant career. He was later transferred to the Imperial forces.

His poems cannot be said to bulk large in the literature of the great war, but there is one bright-burning spark of his poetic soul that can never grow dim, and that is his, "In Flanders' Fields". For this short, stirring, clarion-call alone he merited the right to be numbered perhaps with John Masefield and Rupert Brockes, as a companion of their genius.

"In Flanders' Fields" has been set to music on more than one occasion, notably by Captain John Philip Sousa of the American Arm.

In none of these setting, however, is the music really in keeping with the flowing lyric spirit o fthe poem itself. Mr. Harold Eustace Key, the organist of the Emmanuel Congregational Church, consequently composed a new setting specially for the McGill Song-Book. Mr. Key has rendered invaluable work to the Song-Book throughout the summer months. His merit should be appreciated by this time, as the "Founder's Festival", which was sung by the choir in the Royal Victoria College yesterday afternoon, was composed by him.

NEW COURSE OF LECTURE ON POLITICS

The course to be given on politics, which has been announced by the university, promises to be of unusual interest to both students and the citizens in general. The lecturers who have been chosen to give the course are Warwicfl Chipman, K.C., and Francis Hankin, both of whom have spent much of their time during the past few years dealing with problems of reconstruction.

Feeling that a course along the lines of the one recently announced was badly needed, the two men who are to give the course approached Sir Arthur Currie and suggested that a series of addresses should be given under the auspices of the university. The Principal immediately fell in with the idea proposed and asked the two gentlemen if they would consider giving the lectures on the subject of so great interest to them. Francis Hankin is a graduate of the Law school last year and is a keen business man who will be able to deliver an easily understood and pleasing set of addresses. Warwick Chipman, K.C., is already well known as a prominent lawyer and lecturer in the McGill Law School and much interest is being taken in the opening lecture to be given by him.

The course will deal with the general ideas at the bottom of politics and will attempt to give those attending it a sufficient knowledge of political theories to enable them to follow any political discussions in an intelligent manner. The theories underlying democracy and democratic liberty will receive much attention in the first lectures with the application of these theories to our own particular government.

Constitutional questions involving the powers of the Dominion and Provincial governments and the conflict of powers as a result of the form in which the British North America Act is drafted, will be discussed, while the position of the parliament and cabinet as law making bodies also forms part of the general outline of the course.

Specific problems of the Dominion and Provincial governments in relation to economic and other important question will be dealt with, while the government of industry and the tariff will receive the attention the deserve as some of the most pressing questions of the day. At the same time the ever-interesting topic of government ownership will be considered with the consequent train of interesting questions concerning government interference in private industry, revenue, and taxation.

Canada, in signing the Versailles Treaty, agreed to support the workingmen in the realization of an eight hour working

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION PLANS READY

Lectures Will Be Suspended From Tuesday to Monday

BIG DISPLAY

All Faculties Will Be Represented in Fete-de-Nuit

All lectures ill be suspended during the period of the Centenary Reunion next week. Classes will cease on Tuesday afternoon and will recommence the following monday. The Governor decided to declare a holiday during the period of the Re-union so that the undergraduates might take a large part in the celebration. The plans for the reunion are now complete and the various committees are marking time until Monday next, when the first official part of the celebration will take place, in the registration of the graduates who are living in the city. Registration will be the only thing of importance to be done until wednesday afternoon when the first event of importance will take place.

All undergraduates are invited to the monster garden party and pageant which is taking place at 3.00 p.m., on wednesda. The garden party is being given by the McGill Womens Union, which society has made thorough arrangements to make the affair successful. During the progress of the garden party a pageant symbolic of McGill past history will be presented. The pageant which is scheduled to start at 4.00 p.m., and last for about forty minutes, will be given in five scenes. The pageant has been prepared and directed by Prof. Cyrus W. McMillan, of the English department of the Faculty of Arts, the cast being made up of McGill students and graduates for the greater part. Throughout the progress of the garden party the band of the Royal Montreal Regiment will play.

Plans of the students' "Fete de Nuit" are just being published for the first time. The Students' Council and the officers of the various undergraduates' societies combined to make the display an affair surpassing anything that has ever previously been attempted by the undergraduate body.

The various faculties are putting on separate displays. The Law students will appear with the inimitable Si Whiff letree display that has amused the students of the university for several years past. For the celebration they have spent an unusual amount of time in preparation and they promise to give a display that will excel anything ever before seen. Arts will present a farcical faculty meeting and as the Arts Faculty is noted for the meetings held by the staff, the students should present a very amusing show. The Science students are preparing a parade symbolical of the part played by the "embyro plumbers" in the college and it will be interesting as well as amusing. The whole affair will end up

FLAG STAFF TO BE DEDICATED

Sir Arthur Currie Will Dedicate New Memorial Flag Staff Before Sports

Next Friday afternoon before sports, Sir Arthur Currie will dedicate a memorial flag-staff to the McGill Seige Battery. After permission was received from the University authorities to erect a memorial in the southwest corner of the Stadium, the base was designed by one of the men who enlisted in the original draft, and paid for by subscription from the relatives and friends of the men who enlisted in the unit. The base of the staff consists of two octagonal granite steps on each side of which is carved the name of one of the men who fell doing his duty in France. This base is surmounted by a bronze casting engraved with the name of hte unit and a suitable epitaph, on top of which is a high flag-staff. The unit being composed almost entirely of McGill men, was recruited at the ned of the college session in 1917 and went to England in June of the same year. While in England it was reorganized as the 10th Canadian Siege Battery and went to France as such under the command of Major Stopford Brunton. The unit went through the battles of Amiens, Arras, Cambrai, and also with the heavy artillery at Mons. While still in France the unit was demobilized with a list of sixteen fatal casualties.

NOTICE TO FRESHMEN

Until further notice all members of the class will be required to wear Jazz bow ties but NO collars. Any violation of the above will be severely dealt with. This ruling goes into force immediately. SOPHOMORES.

SIDESTEPPING THE FACTS

For years we have been ignoring the facts about the increase of venereal disease. The doctors are aware of the appaling prevance of the evil, and are now taking measures to enlighten the great mass of the general public. This is no easy task, for the verage man is hopelessly ignorant of these matters. It is only hitting straight from the shoulder that the seriousness of the ng can be emphasized.

This afternoon, in the Union, McGill students will have an portunity of listening to some of the most eminent specialists ong this line. Students should not sidestep the facts any longer, t attend the meeting, and get the facts from these men, who ow of what they speak, and tell those who were not so forate as to be there.

It is only by these means that this evil can be checked, and ery student owes it to himself and to his fellow-students to tend. The moving pictures shown are most instructive and are especial value in illustrating the points of the lecture. This is opportunity that no student should pass by.

Last year the students attended these lectures en masse and led the Union ballroom to overflowing. To those who were ere nothing need be said about the influence fo the meeting. his is directed more particularly to the men who neglected to go st year or who are newcomers to the University.

First year men should learn that education does not begin d end in the lecture room. The value of outside lecturers, who me and give instructive talks on matters of general interest, cant be over-estimated. The best part of a man's education is acired not in the classroom, but in attending public meetings, and scussing with his fellow-students on the campus and around the ildings the facts which he has heard.

Those who are at the back of this movement for spreading e truth about this social evil feel that this meeting will be of intimable value to the students in the protection of their future elfare.

"Forewarned is forearmed" and if the influence of this meetg will keep some McGill students straight it will have done its ty in full.

Preventive medicine is now considered to be of more value physicians than corrective medicine. In the same way the edical men in charge of this branch of disease are well aware at if by proper propaganda they can prevent men from incurring they are doing more good to society than by discovering a new re for it.

Every student should consider it his duty, to be present at this eeting.

AGAIN——THE ROOTERS.

The attendance at the first meeting of the Rooters Club was ry encouraging to the men, who are taking that branch of the udents' activities as their special care. However, there are still great many students who have not yet turned out, and it is to hoped that they will be present at the second practice, which as been called for to-day.

The opening of the session is always attended by a flood of eetings and other diversions for the new student, but organizaons such as the rooters deserve a place of first importance in e eyes of everyone taking lectures at McGill. Much difficulty s been found in securing an hour suitable for holding the open's' leader should have an excellent opportunity of trying out the eeting to-day following the lecture to be given in the large hall he Union.

As a very large attendance is expected at the lecture the root practices, and as a result it was found necessary to hold the songs and yells prepared for the opening football game, and is to be hoped that everyone who can possibly do so will remain the practice.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED FOR CENTENNIAL

Graduates Committee Need Many Students

APPLY TOMORROW

Mr. Henry Will See Applicants in Strathcona Hall

The graduates' Re-union Committee are asking for a number of students who will volunteer to assist the committee in the registration of graduates and the information and service bureaus. As many students as possible are urged to come forward and offer their services, as there is a great deal of work to be done. All students wishing to volunteer will please apply to C. B. Henry. at Strathcona Hall, between the hours of 5.30 and 6 p.m. today.

Registration of graduates will take place in Strathcona Hall and will be by faculties. There will be a booth for each faculty. The duties of the men registering the graduates are to fill out the names of the graduates and fill out the various questions which are furnished on the cards. The remarks column, which refers to what ever information the graduate desires to give which will enable his classmates to get in touch with him more easily or information as to what members of his family are with him at the Re-union, should also be filled out. Each graduate will then be handed a block of tickets, a graduate badge, a copy of the McGill News and a printed circular issued by each faculty.

In rear of the registration booths a number of men will be required to file the cards and make out lists and particulars of members registered, etc.

A number of men are needed on the information bureau. Their duties will be to hand out information regarding whereabouts of graduates while in the city, and all information regarding special faculty programs, special trips and medical clinics. They will also have charge of the issuing of tickets covering clinics, lectures, etc., for the following day. These must of course be issued to graduates only.

It will readily be seen that with upwards of 3,000 graduates in the city the information office will be besieged all day by large numbers of men desirous of obtaining information of every kind, so that a large and efficient staff is absolutely necessary if things are to run smoothly.

A number of men are wanted to act as cashiers. Their duties will consist in issuing tickets to the registration committee on receipt of funds to cover these tickets. As will be seen from the foregoing there is a great deal of work to be done, and with the very large number of graduates coming every student who feels that he can possibly do so should volunteer, so that the Re-union Committee will be able to lay their hands at any time on a sufficiently large number of men to ensure that the work is never held up. It is only in this way that the work can be carried out properly. The graduates are relying on the support of the undergraduate body in this matter and it is now the part of the students to see to it that their trust is not misplaced.

in a huge parade through the streets of Montreal with floats and comical exhibits of all the phases of student life.

Thursday morning the meeting of all graduates in the city will take place in the Capitol theatre under the auspices of the Graduates' Society. The meeting, which will be closed, owing to the fact that the large numbers attending will preclude any opening discussion will be addressed by several prominent McGill men, Paul Sise will be in the chair at the meeting and will call it to order. The address of welcome will be delivered by Sir Arthur Currie, who will briefly outline the needs of the university and the necessity of graduate co-operation. This will be followed by an address by the President of the Graduates' Society, who will outline the plans for the extension of the graduates society as well the a resume o its origin and activities in the past.

Dr. Colby will give a brief address on the aims of the graduates society. As one of the most distinguished McGill men, Dr. Colby should prove very interesting on a subject which every graduate has at heart. Judge Howard will be the last speaker of the day, when he will discuss the Graduates Endowment Fund as an aid to the maintenance of the university in its proper place in Canada.

The discussion of reports will take up a short time at the meeting and some motions will be presented to the graduates attending for them to vote upon. A short discussion will also take place with members of the Graduates council in the role of speakers.

The special convocation to take place on Thursday afternoon has already been discussed. Many of the distinguished sons of McGill as well as other well known figures will be honored by the university and some short addresses will be given by outstanding figures on the day.

The class dinners to take place on Thursday evening will, to the majority of the graduates, be one of the biggest parts of the celebration. According to the figures by the graduates' reunion committee there will be about three thousand former students attending the dinners. The oldest graduates will have their class dinners in the Mount Royal Club. Other graduates up to the ear 1900 will have their dinner in the Rit Carlton Hotel, with each class having separate tables. A similar plan of dividing the classes will be followed for the years 19000 to 1921, for whom arrangements have been made at the Windsor Hotel. At the conclusions of the dinners, the classes will join for smokers at the Windsor and Ritz hotels, where McGill films will be shown. The Appollo Glee Club will give a concert and an orchestra and other entertainments have been provided for.

On Friday morning the lecture for the various faculty graduates will be given, with some of the leading professors in the university in the role of lecturers. Friday afternoon, the University sports will take place and the best of McGill's athletes will be seen in action while an added attraction will be a medley relay race between McGill and Toronto University teams.

A monster reception has been planned for Friday evening. The reception is being given to the graduates by the Governors of the University and will take place in the Medical Building. There will be limited accomodation for dancing, while a musical program has been arranged. Refreshments will also be served during the course of the evening.

A trip to MacDonald College has been arranged for Saturday morning. Trains will leave Montreal at 10.00 A.M., for the college at Ste-Annes, where a light luncheon will be served and the the returning trains will leave at 1.00 o'clock in time to have the graduates back for the McGill Varsity Football game.

Of course the football game is taking place of prime importance in the plans for the celebration. Both of the teams realize the importance of the game and they are working hard to be in the best of shape. Spesial sections of the huge grandstand at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium have been reserved for the graduates so that they will be seated together.

The fraternities are arranging entertainment for the members of their chapters at the college on Saturday night. On Sunday morning a university service will be held at which a large part of the graduates are expected to attend.

Very little remains to be done before the opening of the celebration. Before next Wednesday the various sub-committees will give detailed information concerning arrangements.

MANY STUDENTS FOR CONFERENCE

All Invited to Go to St. Anne's Next Sunday—Apply at Hall

The attention of students is again directed to the conference to be held at St. Anne de Bellevue next Sunday when the United S. C. A., of Macdonald, McGill and R. N. C., will meet. This will be the just occasion for such a gathering of these three new organizations and it is expected that many people will take advantage of this opportunity to mix with their fellow students in the various walks of McGill.

The R. V. C., and McGill delegates will leave from Bonaventure Station on the 8.15 a.m. train and leave St. Annes at the 8.46 p.m., by the C. P. R.

The authorities of Macdonald are making special arrangements for the representatives to use the college grounds during the daytime white the convention will attend in a body a special student service at the Union church at 7 p.m.

All students interested in the S. C. A., are invited to take part in this "setting up" conference and if they will leave their names at Strathcona Hall before to-night they will benefit by the reduced round fare of $1.10.

Many have signified their desire to buy their own lunches so that it has been decided to make this general.

STILL SOME SEATS FOR VARSITY GAME

Tickets for the McGill-'Varsity game will be on sale at the Union probably until to-morrow night, so prospective buyers must take the opportunity or find themselves unable to secure seats. There are still some seats left, but the sale of these continues heavy.

Graduates who have made application for tickets on the forms sent out will be able to obtain them on registration at Strathcona Hall next Tuesday.

Students are reminded that tickets for the Toronto-McGill fame are going fast, and is is almost certain that there will be none by next Saturda.

thers and mothers reaching back for hundreds of years and blight the lives of generations to come. The spark of life is a sacred trust to be received reverently and transmitted undimmed to future generations.

As with most contagious diseases, the way to prevent and reduce venereal diseases is to educate people concerning them. People must know that venereal diseases and the miserable business of prostitution which spreads them, cause not only disability, wrecked lives, paralysis and insanity among men, but invalidism and sterility among women, blindness, deformity and idiocy among children.

The silence surrounding sex has meant hours of needless worry and and depression in the lives of millions. No longer either in war or peace can this tremendous loss of man-power be afforded.

For the nation its outcome means in the long run, a people virile and strong and self-controlled or a people weak and degenerate. It must be faced courageously; but it must be handled carfully, tactfully, and with saving common sense. It need the co-operation and wisdom of the nation's teachers working patiently and intelligently for its right solution.

A nation-wide campaign is now on foot for the purpose of educating the men and women of Canada with the true facts concerning this impending menace. Those who are carrying this campaign are without doubt prompted by the highest motives, and their work is a manifestation of true patriotism which should not be allowed to pass unoticed by the people of Canada, amongst whom the students of McGill University are an extremely influential body, in as much as they are the leaders of to-morrow.

Now, in order that the efforts of these men shall be successful, it is highly necessary that they should receive the full co-operation of all high-minded Canadians. A man's first duty towards cooperation is that he should first of all equop himself with a wnowledge of the insidious dangers of these social diseases and thereby safeguard himself against the possibility of contracting them in any form whatever, by the exercising of common-sense and moral sense. Having gained this all-important knowledge, it is his duty to apply its teachings to himself and furthermore, to do his best to disseminate it amongst his friends who are less fortunate in their knowledge

Therefore, let us presume that every student now at McGill is sufficiently broad-minded to realize that this part o his education is equally as important to him as the actual work he is engaged in, for it is obvious that without a safeguard against the social evil there is a great danger that his many years at college will be fruitless as a result of inefficiency brought on by venereal disease. oss of efficiency constitutes a loss of usefulness, and loss of usefulness is both a national and personal disaster.

With this realization in view every man owes it to both himself and his family and his country to avail himself of this opportunity to become educated along these lines and thereby safeguard himself and his descendants from a world-wide curse. An opportunity of this nature very seldom presents itself and those who avail themselves of it will be amply repaid.

ROOTERS MEET AFTER LECTURE

A meeting of the Rooters' Club will be held this afternoon immediately after the lectures on social diseases in the Union. Everybody MUST be out to this meeting in order to get properly organized for the 15th.

Song Book on Sale Monday —Call for Tenors and Basses

Last even in the R.V.C. the most encouraging rehearsal of the University choir for the pageant was held, under the direction of Mr. Harold Key, who is also the editor of the new McGill song book which will be on sale next Monday. The Common Room was so well filled that it was deemed advisable to find another quarter to hold practice on Saturday night.

The four different parts were well sung, much to the satisfaction of the director. The addition of over twelve instruments in the orchestra helped to contribute in the most effective manner, while it is expected that the next meeting of the choir will bring forth many new student musicians who have been delayed from being present till now. The appeal to musicians is very urgent if the pageant is to assume its intended magnitude next week.

The determined efforts of the ladies have been much noted and appreciated; on every occasion they have turned out with the choir from its first rehearsal. Yesterday afternoon there was a decided lack of male members in the choir at the special convocation at the R.V.C. Nevertheless, the sopranos and altos were present in a body. Although many more men attended last night's gathering, yet it is most essential that at least a hundred more students join this part of the program for the centennial.

Special arrangements have been made with the McGill Union officials and permission has been granted to hold Saturday's practice in the Ball Room at 8 p.m. The Union hall is a more capacious place and it is trusted that every person desiring to take part in this choral program for the pageant will make a decided effort to attend, whether his voice be good, bad or indifferent.

The Threshold of Life
Many men allow themselves to attain middle age before thinking of Life Assurance. The subject should make its strongest appeal to a man standing upon the threshold of his career.
Life Assurance is always economical. If taken up at an early age it is doubly so. Endowment Assurance taken up now, matures at the moment when either your business or your family will feel the benefit of it most.
Avoid the regrets that many men feel in later life.

SENIORS TO HELP COACH NEW TEAMS

Inter-Faculty Rugby Plans Laid

TEAM COLORS

Arts and Law Will Commence the Season Against Commerce

At a meeting of the Inter-Faculty Rugby Committee held in the Union last night plans were made for the commencement season which augur well for McGill's football future. Rog. McLagan, President of the Football Club presided, and was advised in his direction of affairs by Manager Bill McDonald. The meeting was a great success and the most successive campaign of recent years was advocated and enthusiastically adopted. Acting on Dave McKeen's suggestion it was decided to approach the different Undergraduate Societies with a view to securing financial assistance for purchases in the way of uniforms and equipment. It was pointed out by Principal that owing to the expenses of the Centre-union, some of Faculties might not be able to show a suficient balance to enable them to give the needed assistance. To overcome this difficulty the members of different Faculties will be asked to contribute towards this fund in case of a shortage.

The Chairman impressed on the Committee in his opening speech, the responsibility of the student body toward their McGill teams. He was most emphatic in bringing to their notice that in the players produced by Inter-Faculty competiton lay the hopes and salvation of the Football teams in days to come. He also informed them that the Football executive were willing to go to any lengths to assure the success of the league. He brought the welcome tiding that members of the Senior squad would attend periodically to assist the team in practice and drill them in the finer points of the game and also that the mighty Loughnessy himself would be only too willing to devote some of his time towards their improvement.

The principal business of the meeting was then attended to. This consisted of choosing colors for each representative team. The result of this choice was decided b drawing the colors from a hat, Dave Medicine Red, Science Khaki, Arts and Law Blue, and Commerce Black. The schedule was then drawn up which gave Arts and Law the honor of opening the season against Commerce. Finally time the selection of referees which took up a greater amount of time than anything else as it was considered prudent to have as officials men who knew the game throughly so that the disputes that marked the games of other years might be done away with. The meeting then came to an end with each representative pledging himself to do his utmost to further the interests of the league.

It is not necessary to point out here the duty which those who are not participating in the Inter-Collegiate series, owe to their Faculties and more so to their Alma Mater. There is many a man who might have proved of enormous value to McGill had he but shown himself in Inter-Faculty competition.

It should be clearly understood that the winning team will be given class numerals and awarded the Wood Cup. The football executive has made arrangements to have half of the old campus given over to the inter-faculty league. If the members of those faculties are in earnest in their desire to help McGill they will avail themselves of every opportunity to practice on the field that has been secured for them. It is to be earnestly hoped that more than the usual amount of interest will be shown and that everything will be done to give the newly constructed league a flying start.

The schedule is as follows:

Oct. 17th Arts vs Comm.
Oct 21st Med. vs Science.
Oct. 24th Med vs Arts.
Oct. 28 Comm vs Science.
Oct. 31st Science vs Arts.
Nov. 4th Comm vs Med.

BASEBALL LEAGUE TO BE FORMED

Games to Be Played Out Doors

Plans are now underway to organize an outdoor baseball league which will be governed by the Endoor baseball rules.

Come on you loafers and lounge-lizards, stop chasing chickens and get out after the fouls.

Come on you embyro doctors, learn to catch a pill before you learn to make one.

Come on you science men, learn the rule to slide before ou learn the slide-ride.

Come on you Theologs. It's up to you to stop the boys from stealing bases.

If you haven't a show with the football or the track. Try and make a hit with us.

We're not particular, all sizes, shapes and nationalities are welcome. We're going to handicap the Eskimo's so everybody gets a chance.

Keep you're batting eyes on the "Daily" and watch for further announcements and meanwhile elect your class representatives for the general meeting soon to take place.

Don't let New York think they're the only ones who play baseball. We're just starting where they leave off.

As a special attraction for the heavy hitters, we have decided to present all those who pole a long one into the R. V. C., a free pass to enable him to recover the ball. This rule does not apply to the Physics building.

We're in the hole at present but with your help, we'll get on deck and when the Reunion is over listen for Batter up. Play Ball.

SOCCER MEETING THIS AFTERNOON

Question Whether Soccer Will Be Played Depends on This Meeting

A wire from Toronto received here yesterday, and much-welcomed by the A.A.A., should see another formerly popular sport at McGill spring up once more. It asks immediate action on the part of the college A.A.A. in sounding out McGill with a view to entering in a proposed Intercollegiate Soccer League.

According to the plans proposed by 'Varsity, a soccer schedule that would include all thec olleges of the middle and western parts of Canada is the project. Toronto, McGill, Ontario Agricultural, and the prairie and western colleges would be the entrants to the League. The schedule would bep layed off n two sections, a western and an eastern division; the respective winners playing off for league honours.

The whole question, as far as McGill is concerned, hinges on a meeting that is called for this afternoon for 5 p.m. in the Union. If any activity is contemplated for this season, prompt work on the part of all soccer nethusiasts is imperative. To the end of determining the extent of soccer enthusiasm at McGill, and the consequent feasibility of the proposed league, to-day's meeting is proposed. While the notice is short, this of necessity is the only course of action to be taken. McGill's part in any such league rests upon to-day's attendance.

RUGGER MEN TO JOURNEY TO TORONTO

Will Play Varsity on October 22nd

HERE 29th

Matches Against Montreal on Saturday Afternoon

The Student's Council has endorsed the English Rugby team's trip to Toronto to play 'Varsity on October 22. This will be the first of a series of two Intercolleyiate games, the second to be played in Montreal probably on October 29th.

The English Rugby Club is making every effort to field a winning team this year and extends an urgent invitation to every man who plays the game to turn out.

Two teams representing McGill will line up against the Montreal English Club on Saturday afternoon. The first team plays the first game at 2.30 p.m. The sceonds will clash in the second game.

A final light workout will be held on the old Campus today at 4 p.m. The following men are requested to attend: Helmaken, Tolloway, Manson, Bradshaw, McDougall, McKinnon, Beardsley, Anglin, J. McIntosh, C. A. McIntosh, Clarke, Day, Lochead, Clelland, McLean, Rankin, Trites, Kemp, Budden, Roome, Wilson, Bearsto, Reid, Gooch, Peacock, Cooper, Kelly, Brenchly, Blendell, McDougal, McGoun, Mitchell, Whidden, Brown, Duncan, Patterson.

Any others who turn out may get an opportunity to play Saturday. All men must be physically examined before Saturday's games.

FIRST SHOOT OF SEASON SAT.

The McGill Rifle Association will hold its first shoot of the season on Saturday afternoon at the Point-aux-Trembles range. It is hoped that every man who is at all interested in rifle shooting will turn out in order that the club may again attain its pre-war status as one of McGill's foremost sporting organizations. There are no special qualifications for membership other than a keen interest in rifle shooting, whether with or without previous experience on the ranges. Arms and ammunition are supplied by the Militia although the association is purely civilian.

Among the competitions to be run off are the Intercollegiate Shoot, the Interyear Shoot and also one for a trophy offered by the Dominion Government, which bears the Federal Coat-of-Arms and the winner's name. With the use of the standard percentage correction table both old and new shots are placed on an equal footing and no man need feel any reluctance about turning out for the very first meet.

A meeting will be held in Room B, Strathcona Hall, at 5 p.m. Friday for the purpose of enrolling new members and furnishing any information desired.

We invite you to take advantage of our saving prices and make our stores your headquarters for all your requirements.

FRESHMAN-SOPH. MEET TO-MORROW

Large Number of Entries Very Gratifying

Today at 3.30 P. M., trials are being held for the track candidates who are unable to enter the Freshman-Sophomore meet owing to the fact that they are in the higher years. The object of the trials is to determine what progress the candidates are making and to give them experience in competition where they are receiving opposition.

As the work of conditioning and training the men who are slated to catch places on the university team will begin in earnest next week it is necessary that the coach shoudl get a good line on the material he has at hand. The meet on Saturday will serve to show what may be expected from the first two years and the trials today should serve as an indication of what to except from the remainder of the team.

UPPER YEAR TRACK TRIALS TO-DAY 3.30

The number of entries for the Freshmen-Sophomores Track and Field Meet to be held at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium to-morrow afternoon is very gratifing both from the point of view o fquantity and quality. The enthusiasm shown over the meet has been very gratifying to the officials in charge of the meet and they are very optimistic in their declarations that some real finds will be made at the meet.

It is essential if the quality of teams at McGill is to be maintained that some new material should be secured every year. These additions are largely secured from the men who turn out for the meet between the two junior years.

The spirit of rivalry between the two classes is always noticeable at this time of the year and it makes the meet still more interesting from the point of view of the spectator. Both of the classes have had large numbers out at practice for the ga mes and some close finishes are expected.

SIR ARTHUR CURRIE'S MESSAGE IMPRESSIVE

Convocation Address Drew Long Applause — Principal's Idea of Education Pleased Audience — Founder's Day Celebrated by Introduction of "The Founder's Festival" — Degrees Conferred.

By far the most important part of the Convocation held in R. V. C., yesterday afternoon to mark Founder's Day was the address by Sir Arthur Currie.

It seems strangely coincident that the material of the Princial's message, his arrangement of it and the occasion of its delivery should be so strongly reminiscent of the content, style and circumstances of Sir William Osler's world-famous papers delivered during his term at John Hopkins and afterwards. One could not help being struck very forcibly by the similarity between the views of human usefulness and education held by these two great sons of McGill: their optimism, their practical idealism, their actual, living personification of the ideals they so sincerly teach are remarkably parallel. But it is not the fact that they should be similar that makes them remarkable: it is the fact that their are messages which, though actually delivered before a few, a very few people, all more or less of one type, are of universal scope, are destines to reach far greater publics through the press than it would be possible for them to reach as spoken addresses, and contain inspirational values that cannot be overestimated.

In this degree chiefly do they differ: That Sir William Osler's thoughts are directed mainly towards one profession, and all his conclusions point towards this end; whereas Sir Arthur Currie's philosophy of education, his concept of citizenship, of true manliness, of worth in life are aimed at university culture as a whole; and are now in process of active and telling application at McGill. All about us we see the touch of our Principal's vision translated into action, and McGill is certainly not suffering for having a common-sense, matter-of-fact, idealist at the head of her destinies for the next few ears.

In addition to Sir Arthur's address; the Convocation was marked by a foretouch of the coming Centennial Celebration in the introduction of Mr. Harold E. Key's new song: "The Founder's Festival" which, sung by a chorus of female voices, made a distinct impression. It is a haunting thing, a little solemn, perhaps, for our idea of a college song; but none the less appropriate to the circumstances in which it will be used so widely this fall. Ithas been incorporated in the new Song-Book, and is destined long to live.

Degrees were also conferred in absentia upon the following: M. D. C. M.: J. C. Corbett, Edmonton, Alta.; G. F. Dowdall, B. A., Almonte, Ont.; A. Falardeau, Hull, Que.; C. D. McBride, Edmonton, Alta.; R. F. Malo, Sudbury, Ont.; K. F. Ofcish, Montreal; and L. J. Walters, Ottawa. B. S. C. in Arts: Paul Frederick Armstrong, now at Yale. B. A. in Medecine: M. H. Heitelbaum, in Dentistry: J. W. Mills. D. D. S.; A. A. Swancesky, J. N. Blacklock, T. E. Burton and A. D. Crowe.

We are unfortunately forced, owing to lack of space, to publish merely a synopsis of Sir Arthur Currie's address. We had hoped to be able to run it in full in this issue, because the thoughts it contains would surely be of value to all readers. The material points were as follows:

Founder's Day this year is of especial significance. Firstly, it honours the memory of a great Scotsman to whom we owe the origin of our Alma Mater; secondly it marks the granting of an Imperial charter that raises McGill above local and party influence; thirdly it completes a century which has seen more progress than any other one hundred years in history.

It must be a day of appreciation, and of gratitude for the wonderful things we inherit from the centuries that have rolled before us, and from the beings who have built up the huge mountains of thoughts, ideals, standards and traditions that press upon our lives. We cannot estimate the heritage that is ours wherein we saw what others have reaped: it is too impressive. We have, unfortunately, forgotten too much of their labours; it is only by keener appreciation of them that we can undertake our work with any hope of success neglecting to take advantage of accumulated power, we are sure to fail of achievement.

It must be a day of careful examination into the purpose of education: Why are we here? Purpose in the present is as important as appreciation for the past. Education originally was ornamental decorative. To this era belong the "finishing schools" for young women and the "polishing acadamies" for young men. Now education undoubtedly does

The wider conception of education will impress students with an ideal that will produce the finest type of men. This is the creative ideal which makes of men not mere mirrors, not encyclopaedias, but storage batteries of energy, which develops a deeper thing than the mere possession of knowledge, which creates new desires, broadens the vision, enlarges the mind, gives independance to thought and resolution to will, creation being understood as development and education as its human analogue. Men come to college to discover truth, and truth is vaster than knowledge. When education is finished, men will Be the truth. In the acquisition of education, a man cannot always stop to ask himself if such-and-such will be useful in after life. He must rather use all his latent power to develop latent powers and resources of a more universal character. He must use all the privileges and opportunities of college life to enrich the personality to grow into the largest, finiest, truest, wisest kind of man; and then to go out with a solemn sense of responsibility and to spend himself in service. He will then be a blazer of new trails; men will listen because there is a new note in his speech, he will be a new man, created by the process of education for the service of humanity. Idealism in the various branches of education has always shown its value. Investigators and creators in the scientific world, inspired not by thirst for gain but by the desire to contribute to the happiness of the race, have advanced us to where we now stand. The same is true in medicine and law. There is no ideal comparable to this one of training men to create, to develop new things, to enrich the stock of the world and to add to the growing stock of the world's possessions.

This day must be one of inspiring challenge. The world asks for leadership. Tre people will alwas stand behind those capable of being leaders. The leaders are all-important. We hold in trust the treasures of the post. To our studies we bend ourselves with one supreme purpose, but that we may serve and bring happiness. Even in your profession, keep alert for the general good of the people, enlarge your vision, keep wide your sympathies. Specialists are necessary, but do not let yourself become narrowed by your specialty. University life affords contacts of all kinds. Make use of them. They will help make you broad, vivified, human.

The future is yours as well as the past. Founder's Day calls upon you to be worthy of your heritage, to make good use of your privileges, to make ready for the coming day and "To go forth as hosts of the living God, and conquer the earth for your King."

day. However, a very important point has been raised by constitutional experts who doubt very much if the Dominion parliament has power to pass any laws regulating the hours of labor or whether that power has been delegated to the provinces. In discussing the lawmaking power of the two sets of governments the lecturer will also give an exposition of such problems as the enforcement of the minimum wage, conciliation between the employer and the employed and unemployment insurance.

The various proposals for changes in the form of government will be given a certain amount of time, with such suggestions as initiative, referendum and recall and the other proposals of the farmers' and progressive parties coming in for an amount of attention deserving from the point of view of their importance as controversial topics.

The reasons for the growth of the parties in Canada will be given from a historical point of view and the main planks in their platform during the past, as well as at the present time, explained. The political theories will also be dealt with from the historical viewpoint showing how the present parties are connected with the alternative theories. Sovreignty and the general duties of citizenship will be some of the points to bee brought out in the concluding lectures.

In giving the lectures on politics the lecturers wish it to be undersood that they will carefully refrain from taking partizan attitudes on controversial question. Their plan is to present both sides of the questions and allow their hearers to judge for themselves about the good or bad points in the proposals put forward.

The lectures are arousing a great amount of interest, especially as they are taking place at a time when public interest is engrossed with politics owing to the Dominion elections which are close at hand. About fifteen addresses will be given in all and they will take place at 5.30 o'clock in the afternoon so that the hour is convenient for both the students and the general public. A nominal charge is made in order to keep track of the number who take interest in the course but no attendance will be taken nor examinations set on the course.

TRACK MEN PRACTISING IN NUMBER

Freshmen and Sophomores in First Organized Club of Season

WHO WILL WIN?

More New Men Wanted to Turn Out

Last night saw several more men out for the first time, not only freshmen but sophomores as well, in fact there were than freshmen. Today there should be many more sophomores made their debut more sufferersfrom "Charley horse" hobbling around the campus.

The entries for the freshmen-sophomores meet closed yesterday but that will be no means to prevent more new men from turning out either freshmen, sophomores or upper year men. Training will continue as before with more men out. The University meet is a week from today and will provide competition from all years. The upper years will also have a tryout today to furnish an opportunity to go full pace in their event and get an idea what they can do. With information like this, the coach is in a much better position to advise each man as regards training. Many men who may not make a showing on Friday or Saturday, however, will after another week's training be able to turn the tables on the forme victors or make a much better showing. There are also some men turning out for the first time who will keep on training with the team until the time of the Intercollegiate and apply their training and knowledge to next years benefit. It is expected and strongly advised by the coach that all men who do not make the team do this next year they will be first in line for vacancies on the team.

Freshmen and Sophomores are reminded that they must report to Dr. Lamb at Molson Hall at once for medical exam. if they wish to enter the meet this is of course if they have not already been examined this year. It is important to know that last years examinations and cards will not do.

Some men are disappointed that they have not received equipment gratis. It is necessary to explain that Track is not the financial successful proposition that Rugby is consequently Track finances have to be carefully watched and only the team supplied with equipment. It is fully as easy and there are just as good results training in gymn shoes trunks and sleveless as with spikes and a uniform with red ribbons. Then if results are expectional for a new man equipment will be supplied. It is a well known fact among track men that Dave Johnston who cleaned up in the prints for McGill had no equipment, his first year another thing to remember is that aman turning out for track may have got his uniform at some other sport and may not be as good in track as some men without uniform. The same applies to M's so an M on a man need not fighting a man lacking one.

THE COUNCIL ANNOUNCES

The Students' Council at its meeting yesterday afternoon, brought up for discussion and consideration a large list of items of student affairs, the most important of which are published herewith for the information of the Students' Society:

The Annual Meeting of the Students' Society is scheduled for Wednesday. October 19th, at 5 p.m. Among the other items that are due for discussion then is that of election of Faculty Representatives to the executives of the Major Sports. Notice was posted in the evening, that an amendment be made whereby faculty representatives in future be elected by the various faculties themselves and not at the Society Meeting. The reason advanced in support of the motion for amendment is primarily that by the time the meeting of the Athletic Clubs are held, after the Students' Society meeting is adjourned, the few undergrads who remain are far from representative and are in the main disinterested parties as far as concerns the election of the various faculty representatives.

Permission was granted to the English Rugby Club to send a team to Toronto on the 22nd inst., and a return game was announced for the 29th.

On the suggestion of R. L. Hamilton, arrangements were made whereby a list will be left for student reference to contain the names, addresses and phone numbers of executive of all college socicities, class presidents and athletic officials.

In view of the fact that the Sophomore years have adopted a system of placing distinguishing marks on the first year men, the Council announce that such course of action is highly preferable to down-town disturbances and boarding-house raids. All marking and hazing however, must stop by October fifteenth at the least.

Authority was given the President of the Daily to invite Macdonald College to subscribe to the Daily on a par with the other faculties of the University-i. e. Universal Subscription at $1.50: no special section or preference being given over or set aside for Macdonald news.
